Combustion Engineering Inc - Company Profile and News ...

Combustion Engineering, Inc. (CE) was a leader in steam and energy generation technologies for over 75 years. The company remained committed to its energy-based heritage from its inception in 1912, through periods of adaptation to changing market conditions, until it was acquired by Asea Brown Boveri (ABB) in 1990.

Combustion Engineering

Combustion Engineering was organized in 1912 through the merger of the Grieve Grate Company and the American Stoker Company, two well-known manufacturers of fuel burning equipment. The company was originally headquartered on 11 Broadway and at 43 -5 -7 Broad Street (Manhattan), both in Lower Manhattan. The city block was leased from the Alliance Realty Company in April 1920.

Combustion Engineering also designed and constructed a prototype submarine reactor known as the S1C (Submarine 1 Combustion). It was the first self-sustaining nuclear chain reaction in Connecticut and the prototype for the USS Tullibee, an early advanced design fast-attack submarine. The reactor was shut down in 1993 at the end of the Cold War, and dismantled in 2000.

Stoichiometric Combustion - Engineering ToolBox. Stoichiometric or Theoretical Combustion is the ideal combustion process where fuel is burned completely. A complete combustion is a process burning all the carbon (C). HDS(X) High Efficiency, Low Excess Air Burners. HDS and HDSX High Swirl burners reduce emissions while providing higher turndowns.

Combustion . Since 1948, Purdue researchers have set the standard for combustion and propulsion experiments. Work at Zucrow Labs led to the development of the original Space Shuttle Main Engines. Today, new technologies allow propellants, combustors, and rocket engines to be conceived, constructed, and tested with unprecedented accuracy.

Combustion Engineering - Wikipedia

What Is Combustion Engineering? Combustion engineering harnesses the energy from heating fuel. The applications of combustion engineering are used in everything, from home heating systems to car engines, and in all areas of manufacturing. A degree in mechanical engineering or chemical engineering may be required for workers in the field of combustion engineering.
