Lesson 8.7, Surface Area by bat rpr
Surface area worksheets comprise an enormous collection of exercises on different solid figures. The large chunk of exercises is categorized based on a step-by-step approach involving counting unit squares to determine the SA, finding the surface area of nets, and then computing the surface area of geometrical shapes like cubes, cones, cylinders, rectangular prisms, L-shaped prisms, spheres ...

Step 2: Show students the surface area formula for rectangular prisms on the Setting the Stage With Geometry Classroom Poster:  $SA = 2(l \cdot w + l \cdot h + w \cdot h)$ . Explain to them that the surface area of 3-D objects is measured in square units, just like the area of 2-D objects, and is the sum of all of the 3-D object's 2-D surfaces.

Calculating Surface Area of 3-D Shapes | Scholastic
Lesson 12 Summary. The surface area of a figure (in square units) is the number of unit squares it takes to cover the entire surface without gaps or overlaps. If a three-dimensional figure has flat sides, the sides are called faces. The surface area is the total of the areas of the faces. For example, a rectangular prism has six faces.
